to Name Bishop HOT SPRINGS IM - The Episcopal Diocese of Arkansas has set in motion the machinery to name the next bishco.

The convention yesterday em powered Bishop R. Bland Mitchell name a committee of three clergymen and three laymen to select a list of nominees for coadju tor, who will assist the bishop with e right of succession. The move was made at the request of Bishop Mitchell. He told the convention's opening session hat "I will be 68 in six months" he felt it would be for the good of the Diocense if his successor were chosen as soon as possible. Retirement age is 72, The convention also voted to assess Arkansas parishes to support the bishop coadjutor this year, since there is no provision for the post in the 1955 budget.

In other action the convention acepted St. Mark's Parish of Little Rock as a full parish in the convention and accepted St. Luke's of

to Name Bishop HOT SPRINGS IM - The Episcopal Diocese of Arkansas has set in motion the machinery to name the next bishco.

The convention yesterday em powered Bishop R. Bland Mitchell name a committee of three clergymen and three laymen to select a list of nominees for coadju tor, who will assist the bishop with e right of succession. The move was made at the request of Bishop Mitchell. He told the convention's opening session hat "I will be 68 in six months" he felt it would be for the good of the Diocense if his successor were chosen as soon as possible. Retirement age is 72, The convention also voted to assess Arkansas parishes to support the bishop coadjutor this year, since there is no provision for the post in the 1955 budget.

In other action the convention acepted St. Mark's Parish of Little Rock as a full parish in the convention and accepted St. Luke's of

to Name Bishop HOT SPRINGS IM - The Episcopal Diocese of Arkansas has set in motion the machinery to name the next bishco.

The convention yesterday em powered Bishop R. Bland Mitchell name a committee of three clergymen and three laymen to select a list of nominees for coadju tor, who will assist the bishop with e right of succession. The move was made at the request of Bishop Mitchell. He told the convention's opening session hat "I will be 68 in six months" he felt it would be for the good of the Diocense if his successor were chosen as soon as possible. Retirement age is 72, The convention also voted to assess Arkansas parishes to support the bishop coadjutor this year, since there is no provision for the post in the 1955 budget.

In other action the convention acepted St. Mark's Parish of Little Rock as a full parish in the convention and accepted St. Luke's of

The convention yesterday em powered Bishop R. Bland Mitchell name a committee of three clergymen and three laymen to select a list of nominees for coadju tor, who will assist the bishop with e right of succession. The move was made at the request of Bishop Mitchell. He told the convention's opening session hat "I will be 68 in six months" he felt it would be for the good of the Diocense if his successor were chosen as soon as possible. Retirement age is 72, The convention also voted to assess Arkansas parishes to support the bishop coadjutor this year, since there is no provision for the post in the 1955 budget.

In other action the convention acepted St. Mark's Parish of Little Rock as a full parish in the convention and accepted St. Luke's of

to Name Bishop HOT SPRINGS IM - The Episcopal Diocese of Arkansas has set in motion the machinery to name the next bishco.

The convention yesterday em powered Bishop R. Bland Mitchell name a committee of three clergymen and three laymen to select a list of nominees for coadju tor, who will assist the bishop with e right of succession. The move was made at the request of Bishop Mitchell. He told the convention's opening session hat "I will be 68 in six months" he felt it would be for the good of the Diocense if his successor were chosen as soon as possible. Retirement age is 72, The convention also voted to assess Arkansas parishes to support the bishop coadjutor this year, since there is no provision for the post in the 1955 budget.

In other action the convention acepted St. Mark's Parish of Little Rock as a full parish in the convention and accepted St. Luke's of
